Injured Shoulder Miraculously Healed

By Nathan D. Pietsch

Dawn and I have been working very close with a wonderful church here in Mexico. We have been helping train and equip the people for the "Great Harvest." The location of this church is in the poorest community in Cabo San Lucas. They live in plywood houses surrounded by dust and dirt.

After one of the training sessions, a group of eight people outside the church caught my attention. I received a word of knowledge (1 Corinthians 12:8) from the Lord of one of them having pain in their left elbow. I asked the group through my friend, Jose interpreting about the pain. One of the guys said, "I don't have pain in my left elbow, but my right shoulder hurts." He was in visible pain and unable to lift his arm above his head.

He permitted us to pray for healing. However, the Holy Spirit prompted me to have the obnoxious drunk guy in the group speak healing. I believe the Lord had me do this because the drunk man is really called to be a minister. The drunk man repeated after me as he placed his hand on his shoulder. "In the name of Jesus Christ, be healed." The injured man then began to swing his arm around in full mobility. Jose then preached the Gospel to the group in Spanish. They were all visibly touched as the Holy Spirit encountered these precious people.

God is greatly desiring for you and I to share His perfect love with others. The Lord radically touched this group by my "botched word of knowledge." Either way, God demonstrated His great love to lose in the dirt.
