God Loves Family

By Nathan D. Pietsch

In August, I had a family reunion. It had been 13 years since all five of my brothers had been together at the same time, One of Nathan's brother brought his family down from Alaska. Another had leave from the Army and flew out from Fort Benning, Georgia with his family. We had a wonderful time catching up, talking, and playing games.

While I enjoyed the time with my five brothers, dad, and extended family, I was happy to reflect upon a special Bible verse. The final words in Joshua 24:15 says, “...But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord (NKJV).” Despite our differences as a family, all of my brothers have received Jesus as their personal Lord and Savior. In turn, their children have also accepted Jesus.

This was largely due to the evangelism efforts of our late mom. She taught Good News Club for 30 years and would “practice” teaching her lessons to us. As a result, we all learned the Scriptures very well. Having a foundation in the Bible has molded us into the people we are today.

If you are a parent or grandparent, of a wayward child or family member, take heart. Proverbs 22:6 (NKJV) says, “Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it.” Have faith the Lord will work on your family’s behalf.
