God of the Suddenly

By Nathan D. Pietsch

In the month of June, Dawn and I have heard from many people about the difficult situations they are facing. It seems as if harder days have been on the increase. One of our missionary friends was thrown into prison for standing against abortion and is now facing a legal battle. Others are encountering extreme health conditions that the medical field is unable to treat. The hardships are stacking up.

In 2 Kings, the Israelites were experiencing a dire scenario. The enemy king had surrounded their city in a siege. They had nowhere to escape. They resorted to eating whatever provisions remained inside the city walls. As the months carried on, the people were consuming donkey heads and dove droppings (2 Kings 6:25). Then the horrific occurred. A mother boiled her own child for food. (See 2 Kings 6:28-29.)

Then the Heavenly Father moved. He supernaturally caused the enemy to hear the sound of a great army, which scattered them in every direction. (2 Kings 7:6 NKJV). In a single moment, the Israelites went from the worst scenario they had ever faced to lavish abundance.

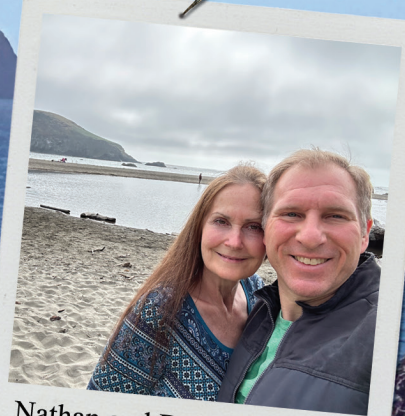

I do not know why it sometimes takes God so long to respond. When He delays, the wait is not comfortable. Throughout the Scriptures, this appears to be a pattern of the Heavenly Father, Jesus, and Holy Spirit. You can read Daniel 3, Daniel 6, and John 11 for some examples. However, in a suddenly moment, the Lord acts.
